

CIVIL SUITS.

An Anomalous Foreclosure Suit to be Heard.

FIGUEROA HOTEL PROPERTY

Important Decision by Judge Ross—Three Written Opinions by Judge Clark—Court Notes
—New Cases.

Wednesday next a rather anomalous foreclosure suit will come up again in Department Four of the Superior Court. It is the result of S. G. Burbridge against P. H. Lemert, to foreclose a $12,000 mortgage upon the Figueroa Hotel property.

The mortgage was given in 1889 and was to run five years. The plaintiff now endeavors to foreclose the mortgage for the reason that he alleges the interest payments have not been made.

The defendant claims that the mortgage cannot be foreclosed until the five years have expired, and that the contract requiring interest payments is violated. Under the Constitution of the State of California, an agreement by which a mortgagee agrees to pay taxes on a mortgage makes the contract in so far as interest is concerned, void.

There was an agreement, so it is claimed between Burbridge and Lemmert whereby the latter was to pay the interest upon the mortgage. He now pleads that as a defense against foreclosure, asserting that the contract requiring him to pay interest on the $12,000 is void.

The case will come up for further hearing on Wednesday.

Judge E. M. Ross in the United States Circuit Court yesterday handed down a very important decision in the case of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company against the San Diego Street Car Company. The decision was in favor of the defendant corporation.

This was a suit brought to foreclose a mortgage for $250,000 upon the property of the corporation, secured by an issue of bonds. The legality of the action of the board of directors of the street car company in issuing the bonds was in issue. The judge held that the bonds were illegally issued. It was therefore ordered that the complaint be dismissed as soon as the receiver of the street car company filed his report.

The opinion in this case was important because of the precedents it set, and it was held as to the authority vested in directors of corporations which it decides. The decision was voluminous.

THREE DECISIONS.

In the case of Will Riley against Ralston, an opinion in favor of the defendant was given. The court held that an attachment merged in the lien of a judgment and was subject to perfection by suit and execution under an undertaking as specified in the code of civil procedure. A motion for a non-suit was therefore allowed.

In the cases of the Southern Pacific Co. against the Pacific Coast Lumber Co., three suits were brought. A motion for a non-suit is allowed.

In the case of John Allen against Ralston Williams, a judgment was given the plaintiff. It was alleged that the defendant had invested $5000 which he held in trust, and that as a result only $2400 was realized from the investment. Then suit was brought to recover the remaining $2600. Judge Clark said that the plaintiff could not succeed because she had no authority to invest the funds he held in trust.

Yesterdays judgment. The case was
M. F. Swagge against M. U. Entier was summited on briefs after being argued by Swagge and Entier to obtain judgment the balance of a judgment secured by him last year in the District Court of Storck county, Ia., for $263.28. The defendant made a motion to reopen the default ar
The plaintiff claims that this motion need not be in order that justice may be done but defeat the collection of the judgment obtained in Iowa.

Court Notes.

In the United States District terday sixty names were ordered to draw from the jury box from which Federal grand jury is to be selected. The venue is returnable Friday next.

Arthur M. Kinger, a native of Chilli, Wis

Angel Romero was yesterday purged contempt by Judge McKinley in Department Five. He was ordered by the court to smite his wife, who is now suing him for a divorce. It was alleged that defiance of the orders of the court he smite her. He was arrested for the contempt of court of which he was yesterday purged.

It was law and motion day in the various departments of the Superior Court yesterday and a good deal of business was transacted.

New Suits.

The following new suits were yesterday filed with the County Clerk:

H. C. Wheeler and others sued the Pitkin Mining, Milling and Water Company to determine title to forty acres in township 3, N. range 15 W.

Josefina de Smith to have will of Andrew Smith probated. He died February 1, 1891, leaving an estate valued at $700.

TWO MEN DROWNED.
A Sad Accident at San Pedro Sunday Afternoon.
At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon the sea was running very high at San Pedro wharf. First Mate Griffith of the ship Glory of the Sea announced that he would have to go home. The vessel was anchored several miles out at sea, and the breakers were rolling in over the bar at a frightful rate. His friends did all in their power to talk him out of making an attempt to reach his ship, as they considered it sure death, but he would not listen to them and he finally rescued "Billie" Smart, a well-known boat

The two jumped in a stout boat and boldly pulled for the bar. A number of people watched them from the wharf, and saw the little boat plunge in the breakers as they rolled mountain high over the beach. The struggle only lasted a moment, when the little boat and the two men disappeared and nothing has been seen of them since. It was the same men who were on the beach yesterday but their bodies have not yet been washed ashore.

Mrs. Baeyer's Lecture.

Mrs. Baeyer lectured last evening at the First Presbyterian Church to a large audience, taking for her subject "Cain and Abel." The Y. C. A. Hall was small to hold the crowd, for which reason the church was secured.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Baeyer will speak on "Mary, Martha and Lazarus." To avoid a repetition of this sermon, which she has been called on to deliver the same subject, she will change the subject to "The Significance of the Cross."

requested to come early so that they may seated.

Three Marriage Licenses.
The following marriage licenses were yesterday issued by the County Clerk:
W. L. Brush, aged 22, a native of California and Minnie B. Hunewell, a native of Iowa, aged 13, both residents of Los Angeles.
Teipee Valenzuela, aged 22, a native of California, and Isabella Byers, aged 18, a native of California. Both live at Compton.
Noah McCruston, aged 67, a native Tennessee and Mattie M. Thompson, aged 64, a native of Illinois. Both live at Compton.

The Los Angeles Times.

TUESDAY MORNING.

MARCH 24, 1891.

THE OLD LAND GRANTS.

West of Los Angeles, stretching almost from the border of the city to the ocean, is a series of Spanish grants, which remain almost intact to this day. The first as you leave the city is the Hancock ranch, called La Brea, on account of the asphaltum springs which abound upon it; brea being the Spanish name for that substance. This grant is of one league, or nearly five thousand acres in extent. Next on the west comes the Denker ranch, also of one league, and then the Wolfskill of one league, and finally, bordering on the ocean for miles up and down the coast, is the Jones and Baker ranch containing several leagues, or many thousand acres. These large land holdings, when compared with the country adjoining them, seem almost like great wastes, the bordering land being, as a rule, under a high state of cultivation, while the grants, if utilized at all, are merely used for pasture. This must be regarded as an unfortunate condition of things for the community at large. Had these vast stretches of land been broken up into small farms, gardens, vineyards and orchards they would have presented even a better appearance than the lands just outside, for the grants were invariably so located as to take in the best lands of the neighborhood, the grantees having the privilege of selecting their specified number of acres or leagues from the larger exterior boundaries. The contrast presented by these two kinds of land is very marked. Stretching all along to the north of these grants, quite from the city to the sea, is the foothill region of the Cañuena, already celebrated for its abundant production of winter-grown vegetables. These lands, though rejected as poor and undesirable by the grant owners when making their surveys, now demonstrate, by their vastly greater productions, how much more useful the grant lands themselves might become if divided up into small farms and worked to advantage. It is clear that these league ranches are great obstacles in the way of progress. The prosperity of the country in which they lie is kept back by them to a fearful extent. This poor and rejected foothill region, for example, supports a tolerably dense and exceedingly thrifty population. No less than half a dozen school districts flourish there and nearly as many churches. But on these large grants adjoining neither churches nor schoolhouse, nor cottage, nor pleasant home is seen. Orchards, vineyards, groves and gardens are strangers there, and all public improvements, like highways, are wholly wanting.

The Constitution of this State expressly declares that "Cultivated and uncultivated land, of the same quality and similarly situated, shall be assessed at the same value," and yet, as a rule, these neglected grant lands are rated for taxation far below the adjoining, and naturally less valuable lands. The wrong and injustice of this is too apparent for argument.

By our system of taxing lands idleness is rewarded and thrift is punished. The man whose industry adds value to his land pays dearly for his pains, while he who neglects his richer soil escapes thereby his share of the public burdens.

As long as these grants are treated by the officers as mere wastes, their owners can afford to hold them for such increased value as may be added to them by the industry of more enterprising neighbors, but should assessors and boards of equalization do their duty and obey the Constitution in reference to them, a reform would soon be brought about, and many a neglected spot would, in a little while, bud and blossom like the rose.

A STRONG argument in favor of the proposition which has been made from time to time, to prevent the increase of population among the criminal and insane classes, was furnished the other day at Fresno, where, in the trial of a murder case, the mother of the defendant testified that her husband, the boy's father, was an habitual drunkard, and a madman when drunk, and that he had beaten and injured her shortly previous to the son's birth. The son was exactly like the father, inheriting a love for liquor, and had been a drunkard ever since he was 14 years old. The only daughter of the couple is also a drunkard. It is certainly hard to hold such a man responsible for his actions, and it is a crime to permit such a man as his father to saddle the world with progeny. To handle this question properly is no easy task.

The lands of the Blythe colony, below Yuma, are offered on the market. These lands were colonized by the late millionaire Blythe, whose will contest in San Francisco created so much excitement. The country down there will one day be a competitor of Southern California in the production of semi-tropical fruits.

WILL BE IN IT NEXT YEAR.

Referring to the invitation to the northern counties to participate in the citrus exposition at Chicago, the Marysville Appeal says: Unfortunately, the orange trees in Northern California were stripped of fruit several months ago, with few exceptions. It would not be practicable for the northern part of the State to muster enough good oranges at this time to make a fair showing at Chicago. Moreover, while the fruit of the southern section is now at its best, those oranges have been left all winter on the trees in this part of the State have begun to deteriorate in quality. Though sweet, they have become pulpy and insipid. It would be better for the northern counties to take no part in this Chicago display than to make a poor and meager showing. Next winter it will be in order for these counties to open a show of their own in Chicago, between Thanksgiving and the Christmas season. Meanwhile, the wish Southern California, all possible success in immigration efforts.

The City Council yesterday decided to have a park out at Reservoir No. 4. The question is a rather complicated one. Some time ago, the city purchased the right to overflow certain lands adjoining the reservoir, aggregating about sixty-six acres. This, of course, makes the land purchased practically the property of the city, as, while it is subject to the right of overflow, it is useless for any purpose, except, perhaps, as a fish-pond. Some persons having discovered that the city does not overflow all the land, evolved a plan by which they are to get a clean title from the city for half the land, in return for which they deed the city the right to use the other half, "for reservoir and park purposes." As Councilman Tufts showed, the city can at present use the land for a park and still retain the right to overflow it at any time. However, the deal was consummated.

The Arizona Legislature which has just adjourned, accomplished a little more than most of its predecessors. An appropriation of $30,000 was made for the World's Fair; bills were passed exempting from taxation for a term of years, new railroads and beet-sugar factories; creating a company of frontier rangers to operate against renegade Apaches, and reducing the maximum railroad fares from 10 cents per mile to 6 cents. The latter reform has been a bone of contention in the Arizona Legislature for many years. The fact that such a bill was passed furnishes an additional proof that the Southern Pacific is out of politics—at least as far as Arizona is concerned.

The latest suggestion for the solution of the silver-coinage problem is to make a dollar of gold and silver, mechanically combined, first making a silver coin worth 25 cents, with a hole in the center, and then pressing a plug of gold in the hole that is worth 75 cents, the number of grains of silver employed to be fixed by Congress. Such a dollar, it is contended, would not only do away with the serious objections raised by all to the weight and size of the present silver dollar, but to the smallness of the gold dollar, also. England had a copper and silver coin of this description some time ago, but it never went into general circulation.

In the April number of Harper's, Minister E. J. Phelps has an article on the Bering Sea question. Mr. Phelps shows that England delays and engages in a discussion of abstract and incidental questions, because she knows that the position of the United States Government is attacked and belittled by opposition, and that the next election may bring into power a new administration, which may abandon the contentions of its predecessors and put the case on entirely different grounds. He adds that a nation divided against itself can never achieve diplomatic success.

THE Philadelphia Times makes the following bold prophecy as to what the next Congress will do: It is now obvious to all that the new Congress will repeal the McKinley tariff; that the House will pass the repeal by more than a two-thirds vote, and that the Senate will repeal it by a decided majority with the possibility of a two-thirds vote to pass it over a veto. Such is the popular response to the McKinley monopoly tariff; such to the impressive political lesson of 1890.

This may be obvious to the Philadelphia Times but that journal is not quite "all."

NEWFOUNDLAND is very angry with England and, failing redress, will make further efforts toward annexation with the United States. An English paper recently expressed the opinion that this would be the best way out of the difficulty for England.

THE accident at San Pedro, which caused the death of two men on the bar, is another argument in favor of an appropriation for the improvement of that harbor.

The insurrection in Chili is developing a vast amount of brutality, unworthy of a civilized nation.

The people of the State will experience a feeling of relief when the Legislature adjourns.

At length the much-talked-of and long-time-delayed Edelman case has commenced.

AMUSEMENTS.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—Tomorrow night the Musical Concert Company will give a farewell concert on their return from Riverside and Santa Barbara. There has been a very great desire manifested by musical people to have Musin play "The Witches Dance" of Paganini, and as Musin is always obliging, it will probably constitute a part of the programme.

THAT WASTE PAPER BASKET. Dime Museum Managers Anxious to Secure the Same. (Sacramento Chronicle.) In the waste-paper basket investigation this morning, Cashier Fogle of the Crocker-Woolworth Bank identified the greenback wrappers found in the library waste basket as those which had held $7500 in currency which, on last Monday afternoon, was paid to J. B. Jones, messenger of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company's treasurer. Jones presented a check on the Nevada Bank, payable to the order of the bank, and the bank had indorsed it. The witness had no means of knowing what Jones did with the money.

Neither Mr. Jones nor S. B. Solomon, one of Estee's retainers; George T. Clark, one of the multitudinous attaches of the State Library, and J. T. Pike, a clerk of Wells, Fargo & Co's agency at Sacramento—but none knew anything pertinent to the inquiry.

The Attorney-General indulged his irrepressible proclivities for semi-judicial utterances just before the investigation adjourned by remarking: "It is evident that either Mr. Jones or the Southern Pacific is in politics."

The investigation will be resumed on Monday. Neither Mr. B. Carr nor Harbor-Commissioner Brown has been subpoenaed. Messenger Jones has become suddenly as famous in politics as the State Library waste basket of which the Chronicle had so graphic an illustration. This basket, by the way, has caused a great deal of trouble, and the assistant State Librarian has already received several tempting offers from curiosity hunters and dime museum managers. It may be before long found in some New York or Chicago establishment appropriately labeled with a wax figure of a Senatorial candidate groping in its deepest recess. The sensation of today, for every day of this session seems destined to have its special attraction, was the arrest of Assemblyman Lowe for assault and battery on complaint of Assemblyman Hildesoe. Two business men of Sacramento, who had arrested lawbreaker out, for the amount was only $100.

Gov. Markham today appointed Charles Phillips of Fresno assistant secretary of the State Board of Examiners, and Wheaton A. Gray of Fresno Superior Judge to fill the office created by the present Legislature.

Attorney-General Hart states tonight that he has positive evidence that the greenback bands found in the library waste-basket held money brought here to pass the Riverside bill. The $7500 was the contribution of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, he says. He reiterates that the records show that the only people who arrived on Monday, when the greenbacks came from San Francisco, were John T. Dare, W. B. Carr, W. H. Brown and S. C. Evans.

Unless some new sensation is sprung meantime at Sacramento, we will adjourn sine die by next Wednesday.

Interior Oranges at Hotels. LOS ANGELES, March 23.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] During the citrus fair I was showing the different exhibits to some eastern visitors, when I was asked if there were any good oranges here. I naturally looked surprised at the question, when the parties remarked that the oranges at the hotel were very inferior, being meaty and without juice. I had dined the day previous at a hotel, and was served an orange drier than a potato, with no juice whatever.

Even if the hotel men only looked at the matter from a paying standpoint, would it not be the wiser course to furnish their guests with eatable fruit? No finer flavored orange can be found on the globe than is produced in Southern California, but I find it is the universal custom of the hotel men to keep their fruit off their tables, and to the detriment of themselves and the whole community.

The inhabitants to a man should protest against such proceedings, and take the utmost pride in sustaining the justly-deserved reputation their State has won for the finest fruit on the continent. Perhaps a new hotel would stimulate the others to do better.

"Old Subscriber" et al. on the Ram-blettes, March 23.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] It is now one week since the waste-basket explosion occurred at Sacramento, and six days since the investigating committee began its explorations, and yet an anxious public has been advised only to the absent Jones of the S. P. Co. of Kentucky. Why this delay? Surely the sleuthing did not not break out, whatever the reason, even if the Legislature does not. To us it seems clear that you should have Jones interviewed by one of your "ables." We have been in a state of feverish anxiety since last Saturday, and unless you give us some further information we will be forced to stop your paper.

OLD SUBSCRIBER, CONSTANT READER. [THE TIMES has had one of its brightest pair of legs camping on the trail of the before-mentioned ones, and will deliver his scalp in our cabinet within a week, provided "Old Subscriber" and "Constant Reader" do not stop the paper. We beg a little indulgence in order to prepare a majority report, and keep the presses going a few days longer.—Ed.]

SACRAMENTO.

Popular Verdict in the Estee Case.

T'WAS "JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE."

Will Elwood Bruner Sue the Examiner for Libel?—Members Show Out without Their Consent.

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—[Special to THE TIMES.] The Waste-basket Committee has adjourned until 1 o'clock tomorrow. They were hot on the trail of one Jones of the Southern Pacific Company of Kentucky, and were so near to him that it seemed best to go into camp and give him a show for his "white alley." Up to Saturday morning Jones was a humble, hard-working citizen; today he is famous, and ranks with the leading statesmen of California. This is due to the fact that a "sack" has been traced direct to him from a bank in San Francisco. Everybody wants to know Jones, but he is a modest man, of retiring disposition, and has retired into such a depth of obscurity that it is expected he will not be discovered until after the Legislature has adjourned. Forty-one members of the House and twenty-three Senators are said to have a high and full appreciation of the retiring modesty of Jones, and would be glad to give him a vote of thanks, but do not want to thrust greatness upon him.

It seems to be the settled belief here tonight that the financial aid which Jones was contributing was intended for the benefit of the Western Union Telegraph Company. If this is true, the public will not seriously mourn the sudden disappearance of Jones. The telegraph company is known to be very liberal in its charges, and if it should turn out that the booties have received a part of the tax levied upon the public, it will not regret the diffidence of Jones. In fact it is expected that if this charge should be proven, the very charge will be the one rendered in the Estee case, "justifiable homicide." It is not strange that so many members of the Assembly indorse the opinion given by the old woman in the church-scandal case, when she said "that if there was more of the thing done, and less said about it, it would be better for all concerned."

But the old talk of "What's in it?" and "What's the tariff?" is not heard in the hotel lobbies as it was two weeks ago. Members are now discovering that bad men, known as "legislative crooks," have been selling their votes on pending measures, and they are loud in their expressions of virtuous indignation. One member told me that he had reason to believe that his vote had been sold no less than five times by a man who had first learned how he would vote. It is said indeed that the good men should be thus smothered by the unscrupulous crooks, but it seems never to have occurred to these same Assemblymen to expose the rascals and expel them from the legislative halls and lobbies. Perhaps they are afraid they might interfere with a long-established industry.

The good result has come from the threatened hoodie investigation, and this is to hurry to its end the present session. Tonight the Assembly has neglected the church for affairs of state, and the pending business is being closed out with a rush. Of course many bad bills will be passed with the good ones, but the Governor can take a whack at them if he wants to. As this Legislature has not been favorably inclined to what have been known as administration measures, the members can hardly expect favors from the Executive office. The Riverside County Bill has been passed, and the Governor has accepted to pass. It is said that Col. D. Burns is not opposed to it, though Lynch voted against Estee.

In fact, it is stated that the Colonel would be quite willing to punish Assemblyman Lynch by lending his influence in favor of the bill. The adjournment will, no doubt, take place on Wednesday, and if it does, the investigations will die with it. The House has refused to allow the report in the case of Elwood Bruner to be printed or entered upon its journal, so that when the session is ended, he will be before the public as an injured man. Probably he will sue several newspapers for libel.

THE SIOUX.

Views of a Pioneer Frontiersman.—The Indians Not Conquered.

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I enclose extracts from a letter that I received from a friend of mine who has lived among the Sioux Indians for the last twenty-five years, and probably knows the Sioux character as well as anyone living, and has written a dictionary and grammar of their language; he is one of the oldest missionaries there, and his word ought to have some weight. He did not try to make any reservation with him and know him to be a man who wouldn't say what he thought was not so, and that he is not especially biased against either the whites or the Indians.

Very respectfully, C. R. COREY.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY (S. D.), March 5, 1891.

My Dear Dr. Corey:—On the day you wrote me from Honolulu, January 10, I left my present home, Madison, S. D., and have been roaming over the Indian reservation from Standing Rock to Pine Ridge trying to get at the bottom facts in the recent Sioux war.

I must confess that as yet I am at a loss whether it is more fair to call it a breaking out of the Indians or a breaking in of the whites. The Indians certainly did not start out, whatever they have done by spring, but the whites, by the use of our army, certainly did break in upon the Indians all around. All the fighting done and depredations committed were in the Indian country except the first bloodshed, which was the killing of a young Carlisle graduate by some cattle men (white) over on the ceded territory along the Cheyenne, where he (Plenty Horses, son of Living Bear, at Rosebud), had gone to buy tobacco and sugar.

I have no doubt that both whites and Indians are sadly to blame, and the whole affair is very complex and has been of long development, so that the finger cannot be put upon any one person or thing as the cause.

Dissatisfaction at failure of the Government to keep treaties, disappointment growing out of the work of General Crook's commission, hunger here, sickness, failure of crops, etc., at other places, jealousy between the old heathen and the new progressive parties—all prepared them for a ready acceptance of the ghost-dance and its bright promises. The Indians were allowed by inefficient agents to get full headway, prepared them to meet with desperate fearlessness of death the effort of the Government to stop it by the bluster and show of large bodies of troops. The end was a drawn game, and the Indians not defiant, particularly before the introduction of soldiers, were decidedly so at the close. However, I do not anticipate a recurrence of trouble in the spring unless the Indians are very badly handled, though there are many who think otherwise.

The Indians accomplished all they wanted. They drove the United States army out of their country, secured from Congress an immediate increase of rations, etc., and convinced themselves again that they can get what they want by fighting for it. There are no conquered Sioux Indians yet, except those who have been conquered by the quiet influence of the gospel of the Prince of Peace, and they are many. Had it not been so, and the Sioux Indians untidily undertaken to make trouble, no such army as ours would have been sufficient to subdue them. I go to Rosebud from here; was there last July, and found things a good deal as of old, but the recent war will set things back all around.

It is stated that owing to the liability of heavy floods at Yuma the proposition will be made to build a new line of the Southern Pacific to build a new line a few miles north of Yuma on higher ground.

The Census Bureau has issued a bulletin giving the history of the coal product in States west of the Mississippi River. The product in 1889 was 4,584,324 short tons, while in 1890 it had increased to 10,067,500 short tons.

The greatest soap manufacturing concern in the world has been organized at Houston, Tex. The corporation will have a capital of $15,000,000, and proposes to establish plants in Houston, New Orleans and other southern cities.

James Vall was last night found dead in a cheap lodging house in New York. He was the only son of a wealthy San Francisco banker. Some years ago he contracted the chloroform habit and it is believed that the drug caused his death.

The California State Viticultural Commission has received a diploma and gold medal awarded to the exhibit of California brandies at the Paris exposition. This was the highest prize awarded to an exhibit of brandies at the exposition.

In the Court of Claims an order has been issued for the clerk of the court to certify to the Treasury Department the validity of certain French spoliation claims for the payment of which an appropriation of more than $1,000,000 was made by Congress at its last session.

In the suit brought by Edward S. Stokes at New York to recover $75,000, profits of a stock deal from John W. Mackay the millionaire, and Hector De Castro of the Mackay-Bennett Cable Company, Judge Barrett ordered Mackay to submit to an examination before trial.

The Secretary of the Interior has announced that he will receive bids from cattle owners for the use of pasture lands in the Crow Indian Reservation in Montana for grazing purposes during the coming year. It is estimated that the lands subject to lease aggregate 1,500,000 acres.

Over one hundred switchmen, comprising the entire yard force of the Chicago and Northwestern road in Chicago, were on a strike last night, result of bad feeling against the yard-master, Frank McNerny. The yard-master tendered his resignation, and the strikers went back to work.

The proprietors of nine fruit canneries, representing one-third of the canning industry of California, met at San Francisco yesterday to effect an arrangement for a consolidation of canneries. The meeting was secret, but it is learned nothing of importance was accomplished.

It has been customary for years for the Connecticut Governor's Fast Day Proclamation to be read in all churches on the Sunday preceding Fast Day. Last Sunday none of the invited ministers read it. They explained that they had not received it from Town Clerk Wentworth. The latter, who is a Democrat, explains that he does not recognize Bulkley as Governor, and therefore pigeon-holed the official proclamation.

Theodore T. Havemeyer was before the New York State Senate Committee investigating the sugar trust yesterday.

He was asked by a number of Senators joining the trust, Havemeyer said: "I wanted to put other organizations on equal footing with us. We were able to refine sugar at 10 cents a hundred cheaper than they could. We had been repeatedly accused of controlling a monopoly. These people labor under the supposition we were conducting our business illegally."

But Are Closely Watched by Inspector Byrnes and His Men.

Two of the Jury-fixer Indicted at the Crescent City.

Another Bloody Sequel to the Lynching—Methodist Ministers Again Discussing the Tragedy at New Orleans.

By Telegram to The Times.

NEW YORK, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] An evening paper says:

Chief Inspector Byrnes fully realizes the necessity at this time of curbing the revengeful spirit of the Italian colonists of this city and preventing exhibitions of too much aggressiveness over the recent episode at New Orleans. Detective Sergeants Perrezo and Sissaro of the central office have been unremitting in their labors among the Italians during the past week. They succeeded in locating the whereabouts of two leaders of the Mafia of New Orleans who arrived in this city on Friday. They are being watched.

Already agents of the Mafia are at work among members of the fraternity in this city. Several secret meetings were held yesterday, but Byrnes had an agent in disguise present at each gathering and today is in possession of knowledge of the complete proceedings of each meeting.

MINISTERS AND THE LYNCHING.

CHICAGO, March 23.—At today's meeting of the Methodist Ministers' Association, a long report on the Mafia lynching in New Orleans was presented, which the Mafia and its strained immigration were denounced. The resolution accompanying it is authorized with New Orleans in the tendency of its machinery against the Mafia, but declared mob law unchristian and un-American. After a brief but heated discussion, the matter was laid on the table.

JURY-BRIBERS INDICTED.

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—The Grand Jury returned two indictments today. They are for attempting to bribe jurors and are supposed to be against McChrystal and Cooney, the two men previously indicted. The only new feature is the indictment of D. C. O'Malley, as accessory before the fact in the above cases.

ANOTHER BLOODY SEQUEL.

VICKSBURG (Miss.), March 23.—Ernest Hardenstein, editor of Business, a weekly paper, and John G. Cashman, editor of the evening Post, have been at outs regarding the New Orleans lynching. This afternoon Cashman was attacked by Hardenstein on the street, and drawing a revolver killed Hardenstein instantly.

THE COLORED EDITORS.

They Present Their Race Claims to the President.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] The committee appointed at a recent convention of the Afro-American Press Association called upon the President today and presented an address urging the appointment of a colored man on the World's Fair Commission, and also "a capable negro jurist to fill a place on the bench of the Federal Judiciary."

The President, in response, said that so far as a position on the World's Fair Commission was concerned, there were no vacancies, and if Gilroy Officers Fill a Burglar with Lead and Arrest Him.

A Rich Old Rancher Bounced Out of $5000 by Two Skillful Operators—Other Coast News.

By Telegram to The Times. LAKEPORT (Cal.) March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] A verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree was rendered today in the case of C. Blackburn, one of the band of White Caps who raided the roadside inn kept by Stephen Rich and his wife in the lower part of the county last October, and killed Mrs. Rich.

The band went to the saloon for the purpose of tarring and feathering a man named Bennett who lived there. When they entered the house Mrs. Rich offered some resistance, and was thrown to the floor and shot. During the firing one of the party named McGuire was also shot and killed by his own men.

The evidence in the trial showed that Blackburn was one of the most active members of the raiding party.

A BAD MAN CAUGHT.

He Fired at Officers and Got a Load of Birdshot.

GILROY, March 23.—The burglar who shot Fisher early this morning was traced by Marshal Gardner to a cemetery near town, where he had broken open a house and stolen rubbers and had gone on the road to Madrone. Information was obtained there that he had gone to the Eighteen Mile House, Gardner, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Frost, started after him. They saw him and as they closed in Gardner ordered him to throw up his hands, covering him with a revolver. The fugitive reached for his pistol, at which motion both Gardner and Frost fired, the former a pistol and the latter a shotgun.

The fellow fell, but as he lay on the ground fired at the officers, hitting neither. On being threatened with death unless he surrendered he gave in and was brought back to Gilroy, confessing the robbery. One hundred dollars was found upon him and a card showing that he is from San Francisco, and is named James M. Scott. He is pretty full of bird shot in the back and has an ugly looking lump in the neck, probably a revolver ball. The wounds are not dangerous.

BUNCOED.

A Rich Old Farmer Fleeced by Two Young Sharpers.

VAN COUVER (Wash.) March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] Orsen M. Seward, a wealthy farmer living near here, was buncoed out of $5000 in gold today by two young men. They had been working for Seward for a week past, and during this time persuaded him to go into a lottery scheme in which each was to put up $5000. This morning early they came to his house and as a token of his good faith, requested him to put up his share. He immediately went to the First National Bank, where at 11 o'clock he drew out on his account $5000, which he took home, and in the presence of his young friends, put into a tin box provided by them. They then explained that they would immediately go to Portland to bring over their share, and, changing the boxes they departed just in time to reach the 12:25 ferry.

Farmer Seward when lifting the box supposed to contain his $5000, became suspicious on account of the weight, and started across a field to intercept the men, but without avail. The ferry pulled out in sight of Seward, who frantically rushed for a rowboat, offering two men $30 to pull him across the river. It was too late. The train had already left the ferry landing on the Oregon side and nothing was left for Seward but to return.

On opening the box at the First National Bank it was found to contain a lot of railroad wash and a bundle of papers. Seward is an old settler worth $100,000 and went into the scheme in spite of being warned by parties to whom he had disclosed the transaction in which he was to participate.

CAUGHT IN A GALE.

A Schooner's Rough Experience Off Port Harford.

SANTA BARBARA, March 22.—[Special.] Claus Spreckels's schooner the J. M. Wetherax, with a cargo of 800 tons of sugar from the Hawaiian Islands, bound for San Francisco, came in sight here this afternoon, after being eighteen days out. Her sails were all gone and Capt. Smith gave a distress signal, when boats were sent to the schooner and the captain and crew were brought ashore. The Captain says they struck strong gales off Port Harford which stripped the vessel of her sails, since which time it has been helpless. The vessel was fairly blown in here.

She has been brought near the wharf tonight and all danger of loss is over. It will take a week or more to rig her again.

The Railroad Commissioners. SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Owing to the absence of President Rea of the Railroad Commission, today's meeting was a short one. Commissioners Beckman and Litchfield agreed to lay all matters over until next Monday, when the president of the commission will be there.

A letter from W. E. Arthur, City Attorney of Pasadena, was received, announcing the advertisement of the notice of the coming investigation there, and asking whether the Attorney-General and District-Attorney of Los Angeles county would be present.

The Orange Carnival. SANTA ANA, March 23.—[Special.] At a meeting of citizens held tonight a guarantee fund of $600 was secured, which will be raised to $1,000 tomorrow, to aid in the representation of Orange county at the orange carnival. A carload of fruits and vegetables will be sent from this county.

The Monon Deal. CHICAGO, March 23.—Gen. Thomas and Mr. Greenough in company with Monon officials have started on a trip of inspection over that road. There is little doubt that the proposed loan will be made and the syndicate be elected directors, but President Breyfogle and his staff will probably continue in their present capacity. That property will be of great benefit to Monon, nobody doubts.

An Erling Couple Asphyxiated. DES MOINES (Iowa), March 23.—R. S. Hatton, a man of high social and business standing, and a woman, were found dead together this morning in a room on Walnut street. They had been asphyxiated by escaping gas.

This afternoon it was learned that the woman was Agnes Russell of St. Joseph, Mo. She was divorced from her husband, J. K. Russell, who has since been living at St. Paul. He and her son will take charge of the remains.

Explored the Arctic Circle. WINNIPEG (Manitoba), March 23.—W. Washburn Pike, an English explorer, has returned from the Arctic circle, where he has been during the last two years in search of musk oxen and buffaloes. His party underwent terrible suffering in their journey, being lost at one time for fourteen days without food. The weather was terribly cold. He was fairly successful in his hunting, bringing the skins of over fifty musk oxen.

THE ORANGE CARNIVAL.

Encouraging Reports Continue to Come In—Yesterday's Returns.

Superintendent Hanchette, of the orange carnival, arrived in Chicago yesterday morning and immediately telegraphed that the Exposition Building had been secured at highly advantageous terms, and that the outlook was in every way favorable. The Chicago papers have already begun to publish matter about the carnival. A meeting was held at Santa Ana Saturday afternoon at which it was decided to raise $1000 with which to send a man and a carload of fruit to Chicago. N. C. Bundy, a prominent local capitalist, was delegated to come to Los Angeles and confer with the management to learn what was expected of the various localities and on what day shipments should be made. Mr. Bundy was in the city yesterday and had a conference with J. W. Cook of the Executive Committee. A second meeting was held at Santa Ana last evening.

A telegram was received yesterday from R. H. Young of San Diego, announcing that a decision had been reached and that San Diego would send half a carload of exhibit material to Chicago.

H. H. Sinclair of Redlands arrived in the city yesterday morning and spent the day in conference with the management. The people of his section are ready with half a carload of fruit and a fund of $1000. Mr. Sinclair, who with J. W. F. Doss and E. G. Judson did the greater part of the work here in Los Angeles, will accompany the expedition.

A letter was received yesterday from Thomas Bakewell, the secretary of the Orange Growers' Association of Riverside, announcing that there would be a meeting of that body yesterday afternoon to take action. If they do not agree to the plan, Mr. Bakewell said, he will make a personal canvass myself and see what can be done at getting subscriptions of fruit.

C. W. Williams of the Executive Committee, went to Riverside yesterday to see what could be done to help on the work of organization. The tone of the Riverside papers is not very favorable, but many individual growers are of the opinion that Riverside will make a great mistake if she fails to come in this time. Later a telegram was received from Mr. Wells saying that Riverside had decided to come in.

Mr. Hanchette in a private letter, tells of meeting a Chicago wholesale merchant on his way East who offered to bet ten dollars that if the show was well advertised in Chicago it would draw 100,000 people. If it draws half that number it will pay dividends.

RUNAWAY COUPLE.

Anxious to Get Married—Their Antics at San Pedro.

The gossips of San Pedro are considerably worked up over the antics of a young couple from San Bernardino who put in an appearance at the principal resort town of the south Sunday afternoon.

The couple gave their names as William Talbot and Miss McFarland. The girl, who is very pretty, stated that she is not yet of age, but she thinks she is old enough to marry the man of her choice in spite of her parents' objections, who do not like Willie. Soon after they reached San Pedro they looked up a justice of the peace at his residence and told him a long story about how they wanted to get married, but the girl's parents would not give their consent and the two lovelorn youngsters made up their minds to elope.

The justice did not take a fancy to the would-be husband, and flatly refused to tie the knot. With tears in their eyes they left the justice and made a face for the line for the ferry. They found the holy man at home, and in the recital of their story the tears were noticed to well up in his kindly eyes several times, but, too weak at the moment when the blushing girl announced that she is not yet of age, and once more the blushing couple were sent out on the cold world as two. They were determined to be married, however, and cure him of his preacher to preacher and from J. P. to J. P. but all refused to tie the important knot, and yesterday morning's sun found them still sitting on the streets.

All day yesterday they were running around trying to get some tugboat to take them out to sea, so that they could be married, but the weather was so rough that no one would venture out with them.

They were in such a hurry to get the knot tied that Deputy Sheriff Anderson got into his head that there was something wrong, and he telegraphed to the Sheriff of San Bernardino county and asked about them, but up to a late hour yesterday afternoon no reply had been received.

The authorities at San Pedro will keep their eyes on the couple until the San Bernardino officers are heard from. The couple are well dressed and both have the appearance of belonging to good families.

Ladies' Annex.

The regular weekly meeting of the Ladies' Annex was held at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

The report of the business of the annex at the citrus fair was read, showing receipts of $389.10 and expenditures of $465.40, leaving a profit of $423.70.

A vote of thanks was unanimously given to all who rendered assistance during the fair.

The ladies intend to purchase a piano for their assembly room, and parties having instruments for sale are requested to send in their lowest cash price to the Chamber of Commerce during the week.

The nomination of officers will be held at the next meeting, and not more than three months in arrears for dues, will not be allowed to vote or be nominated for office.

A very interesting article on Southern California was read by Mrs. Randall, which was greatly appreciated by the ladies.

Hard on Fleming. The Pasadena Star yesterday afternoon contained the following: "The Fleming case is a very painful one for the wife of the accused, who is at present a member of the family of her uncle, and aunt in this city, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Young. Both she and her sister, Miss Lyman, who has resided considerable time here, have the respect and confidence of many friends. That they believe Fleming guilty of the crime, with which he is charged forms one of the strongest possible inducements against him. A wife will not abandon her husband to the law in such a case as this, involving, as it does, her own humiliation and a taint upon the name of her child, without the best reasons. Whatever may be the result of the present proceedings against the man, there is too wide and deep a distrust of him in this part of the State to warrant the hope that he will ever be accredited again."

THE RAILROADS.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC AND THE BIG RIVER.

Washout Near New Orleans—Atchafalaya Finances—The Wind and the Wires—Local and Personal Gossip.

Vice-President J. C. Stubbs is in possession of the facts relative to the washout of the Southern Pacific's line near New Orleans. He stated yesterday, says the Chronicle, that owing to the bursting of the levee there is now a strong and very fast running current which is rapidly cutting for itself a bed at a point fourteen miles east of Algiers or about twenty miles west of New Orleans. The company, recognizing the impossibility of bridging this with anything like speed, has suffered no time to be lost, but is now building a long slip at Algiers. On to this the Sunset train will be run within a week, and the cars are then to be transferred to river steamers and ferried to New Orleans. West of Algiers the line is in perfect condition, and the slip, whether used temporarily or permanently will not make any appreciable difference in the delivery of freight, as the detour only makes the journey ten miles longer. While this slip is being built freight to and from the Atchafalaya is being delivered at Galveston by the company's regular steamers instead of at New Orleans. From Galveston the short line of rail carries everything to Houston. One train has been run steadily in spite of the break, and a transfer of passengers has been continuously made at Algiers. Mr. Stubbs, in commenting on the washout, states that it is not a great surprise, as many have held that the Mississippi's real bed is the Atchafalaya, and it is in the direction of that outlet that the floods have poured.

A Raymond & Whitcomb will arrive from El Paso tonight at 10 o'clock.

The rumor that the Rock Island road had been sold to Gould interests is denied by President R. K. Cable.

J. L. Hibbard, trainmaster of the Southern California lines, came in from San Bernardino yesterday and visited headquarters here.

Carl H. Clark, freight agent of the Denver and Rio Grande on the Pacific Coast, is visiting in the city, accompanied by his wife.

H. H. Vincent, agent for the Santa Fe at Pomona, was in the city yesterday. He is just convalescing after a severe siege of illness.

The orange shipments eastward continue to keep up. The eastern Pacific road runs from one to two special trains of orange cars daily.

The heavy wind yesterday greatly retarded railroading in this section. Though no actual damage was done the wind was heavy enough to make the wires work badly.

The eastbound Southern Pacific train last evening had two private cars attached—one the H. M. Stanley, occupied by the explorer and party, and the "P. C." with Mrs. Pullman and her company.

A Boston dispatch says that it is understood the Atchafalaya has offered a committee of stockholders to purchase the road, preferred stockholders a 4 per cent. bond, equivalent to $75 per share, but the latter want $100.

Some of the new work done on Southern California lines has not yet settled down to permanency. A section of the new road gave way under a train near Orange the other evening, derailing a truck and delaying traffic for an hour or two.

On April 1 the Chicago and Northwestern will take possession of the Santa Fe, Marie and Southwestern, and will operate it as a branch of the Omaha road. The line is thirty-seven miles long and does principally lumber and carrying business.

A telegram was received at the Southern Pacific uptown ticket office yesterday from San Miller, the Yosemite tourist agent, stating that the valley is now open, and the roads are in excellent condition. This early opening will be welcome news to many tourists, whose stay in California is limited and who desire to leave and does principal usual opening of the valley is in April, and sometimes not until May.

PASADENA.

Office: No. 261-2 E. Colorado Street.

THE ORANGE CARNIVAL.

Pasadena Will be Represented at the Show.

FOUR HUNDRED DOLLARS READY

Another Hundred Needed Today—Easter's Advent—Newspaper Points and Brevities.

It is practically assured now that sufficient money will be raised to secure a creditable exhibit for Pasadena at the Chicago orange carnival. Yesterday the Soliciting Committee, aided by a few enterprising citizens, ran the total amount of subscriptions up to nearly $400. One hundred dollars remains to be raised to secure the minimum amount needed to defray the expenses of the exhibit. It is desired to obtain this sum today so as to be able to state to the association that Pasadena positively will be represented at the carnival.

Mr. Weight was in Los Angeles yesterday morning and reports that the time of shipping the fruit and the general details will be decided upon today by the association, there having been some delay on account of securing some definite proposition from the railroad companies with regard to price of transportation. It is safe to say, however, that the carnival will not open before April 10. This will necessitate shipping the fruit from here inside of a week.

One hundred dollars must be raised today.

EASTER'S ADVENT.

Great and Artistic Variety of Cards.

As Christmas cards lose place somewhat in popular favor, Easter cards are in greater demand than ever. The variety is so great and so artistic as to gratify all tastes. Some of the booklets that have come to our notice are especially beautiful. In one each page has a poetic selection illustrated and all gathered into a cluster of Easter lilies. Some of the booklets are artistically hand-painted with butterflies, pansies, violets and other flowers, with poems, verses and sentiments suited to the season printed upon fine paper and tied with ribbon. Exquisite cards also have designs in lilies and cards. But the daintiest things imaginable are the satin art prints, of which there is a great variety of subjects, easel scarfs, handkerchiefs and glove cases, portfolios, things useful and beautiful, hand-painted, decorated, delicately perfumed and neatly boxed. Any of these lovely things cannot fail to give pleasure to the favored recipient.

No Blizzards Here.

The blizzard has ceased to have a local habitation. It makes the world its stamping ground and preys on all nations with like violence. Lately a thoroughfare blizzard has been coming through Great Britain. "It has frozen the ears and fingers," says an exchange, "wrecked the vessels and drowned the sailors of the tight little island with quite as much vigor as though it had become naturalized. Snowdrifts that block the railways to a depth of twelve feet are a new thing in England, but the American blizzard is quite equal to the task of teaching the blasted foreigners a thing or two they didn't know before."

Southern California is particularly favored in this respect for no atmospheric disturbances, barring an occasional "Santa Ana," ever come our way. Had we no other attractions to boast of, our freedom from blizzards ought to be sufficient inducement to persuade people to come here and live.

Off for Barley Flats. A party of Painter Gusts, composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Canfield, Mr. and Mrs. George V. Dotterer, George A. Thain and Miss Grace Platt of Los Angeles, returned Saturday from Wilson's Peak, after spending several days delightfully on the summit. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Dotterer, Canfield and Thain left for Barley Flats. The trio were equipped with a complete hunting paraphernalia, and expect to be on the tramp for ten days or more. The early part of next month they will go trout fishing in the San Gabriel Valley.

Music at the Raymond. The following concert was rendered by the Raymond orchestra at the concert Sunday afternoon: Overture, "William Tell,".....Rossini Solo for cornet, "Nazarath,".....Gounod Intermezzo, "Schlemm Amour,".....Edenbergh Romanze, "Spring Song,".....Mendelssohn Hungarian dance.....Brahms Selection, "Faust,".....Gounod

BREVITIES.

The Public Library is self-sustaining. Justice Rose sent a vag up for ten days yesterday.

The Uniform Bank, K. of P., met yesterday evening.

Isn't it nearly time for the price of hay to take a drop?

An informal hog was given at the Raymond last night.

Scholars and teachers met again yesterday, after a two-weeks' vacation.

A general tendency seems to prevail among owners to improve their property.

D. P. Blake, wife and daughter of the Carlton, Ind., are registered at the Carlton.

Our musicians will have another opportunity to hear Musin and his famous company.

The overland, yesterday, arrived shortly before 7 o'clock, some four hours late.

The Dramatic Club will have a rehearsal at the Raymond Hotel tomorrow evening.

Several exciting sets of singles were played on the Hotel Green tennis court yesterday morning.

The March winds blew vigorously yesterday, but the air was bracing rather than unpleasant.

George Greely drove a party of three Wilson Peak tourists to the foot of the trail yesterday afternoon.

extremely bolstered in the forenoon, but by night he could be driven in fine style.

A Los Angeles lady is booked to "expose" Mrs. Abbott's phenomenal power in the Opera House on Thursday evening.

A squad of Company B went to Los Angeles last night and took part in the battalion drill. Capt. Hamilton was in command.

Miss Hierer will lecture some time soon on "Artistic Expression of the Body," for the benefit of the Congregational church.

The noon bell at the engine house yesterday alarmed several excitable persons who were sure a terrible conflagration was in progress.

Mr. Runyon is expected back from Santa Barbara the latter part of the week. He will remain for some time as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Graves.

Two young men employed on the Oak Knoll ranch were yesterday found guilty in Justice Gardner's court of cruelty to animals. Sentence was suspended.

An effort should have been made to get Stanley to Pasadena and feast his eyes on our attractions. The great traveler would know well how to appreciate them.

The Salvation Army in Los Angeles has a full-fledged brass band. The local organization would be more popular if a few horns came to the rescue of the bass drum and tambourines.

W. H. Melendy of North Pasadena died Sunday morning, in the 39th year of his age. The deceased was a railroad man of some prominence. The remains will be taken to Boston for interment.

Col. G. G. Green expects to take a week's outing soon, in his private car, which is now sidetracked at Pasadena. He will be accompanied by a party of friends, and the trip will include Santa Barbara, Santa Monica, Redondo and San Diego.

The Easter service at All Saints' Church will be of special interest and the floral decorations lavish. With this day Rev. G. A. Oltman will close his active work as pastor. Tuesday following is fixed upon as the date for his departure with his family for Portland, Me.

Messrs. Frank Polley, D. S. Bassett and Messrs. Lewis and Prince rode to Los Angeles yesterday on their bicycles. One of the party took a bad header in the city, otherwise the trip was a pleasant one. A bath was enjoyed at the Athletic club rooms. Owing to the rain the party returned in the cars.

The Messrs. Andrews of England, who are travelling over the State with a view to locating, and at present guests at the Hotel Green, look with favor on a portion of the Campbell-Johnston ranch, and it is possible such a purchase will be effected. Visitors almost invariably prefer Pasadena to any town in the southern part of the State.

This from the Philadelphia Times: "Florida is suffering from the want of wrapping paper in which to pack her oranges, while Pennsylvania is suffering from too much flannel and too little juice in Florida's oranges." Southern California's rival in the fruit-growing business seems to have lost its grip on popular favor. There is plenty of juice in Pasadena's oranges.

Bibulous and curious Easter novelties are specially. Hanford's Art and Curio Bazaar, 1165 S. Fair Oaks Ave., near Raymond Station, Pasadena.
